

THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH'S AWARD

Putting it all in perspective

The value of the DofE to employers

The United Learning Trust (ULT) recently published the results of a major survey, undertaken by them in association with Ratcliffe Hall Ltd, focusing on the methods major employers used for selection of new employees. It was primarily about graduate recruitment and asked for the employers' views on the attributes that were most attractive in candidates.

The organisations interviewed were all major employers, representing 12% of all UK employers, 3.6% of the private workforce and 47.5% of the public sector and included:

- Alliance & Leicester plc
- Boots plc
- British Energy Group plc

The organisations were asked what attributes and characteristics they valued as key determinants in the selection of employees. The following were rated the highest: leadership, teamwork, self-motivation, communication, confidence, consideration and the ability to learn.

From the sample 76% of the organisations emphasised how important it is for schools to enable

'life skills' to be developed, with 64% of the sample indicating that a specifically designed and packaged course of 'life skills' development activities, pursued by an applicant, might make a positive difference in selecting the applicant for interview.

The sample was asked what they considered to be the most important activities undertaken at school and were asked to rate them from 1-5, with 1 being the highest:
